ABSTRACT

A description is provided of the curriculum, programs, faculty, students, and finances of the two-year Shreveport-Bossier City Campus of Southern University. Introductory comments set forth the mission, goals, and objectives of the college, indicating that its curricula include developmental, vocational, and transfer offerings; that it seeks to fulfill the educational needs of the community with an open-door philosophy; and that it provides a full range of student personnel services and extracurricular activities. After the programs offered at Shreveport-Bossier are highlighted, faculty members are listed by name, sex, academic rank, and highest degree earned. For each academic rank, the number, percentage, and average age of staff members in 1987-88 are also presented. Next, institutional evaluation through the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the Southern University Review of Programs and Services system is sketched, and a brief profile of 1987-88 students is presented. Finally, a series of charts provides 1987-88 information on: (1) semester and summer session enrollments by academic discipline; (2) number of undeclared students; (3) enrollments by student major within each division; (4) grade distributions within each division; (5) enrollment by race; (6) age, sex, and degree/non-degree status of part-time students, by term; (7) age of full-time students; and (8) a statement of current funds revenue, expenditures, and other changes. SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY
SHREVEPORT-BOSSIER CITY CAMPUS

INTRODUCTION

Southern University, Shreveport-Bossier City Campus is an integral part and an accredited member of the Southern University System. Its basic purpose is essentially the same as the other two campuses in those areas which affect the Shreveport Campus. The primary concern of Southern University-Shreveport is to provide and maintain quality education in the varied fields of knowledge for its constituents. The range of educational offerings include developmental or compensatory courses below collegiate grade; one- and two-year programs in technical and semiprofessional fields leading to careers; two-year curricula leading to associate degrees; and transfer programs that qualify the student to enter the third year of a four-year college or university. A wide variety of credit and noncredit courses, special institutes, workshops, seminars and short programs is offered for part-time students during the day and evening hours.

Southern University, Shreveport-Bossier City Campus' mission as a community college is to service the needs of the Shreveport-Bossier City community and all persons who elect to take advantage of the opportunities afforded by its services. It is committed to the total community with an "open-door policy." The University intends that all individuals should have the opportunity to receive educational experiences and related services which are compatible with their varied interests, academic abilities, achievements, family backgrounds, motivations, needs and goals.

The following objectives reflect the mission of the University:

1. To offer a variety of associate degree programs and certified programs that are career-oriented.

2. To provide the first two years of accredited college work toward a baccalaureate degree.

3. To provide developmental programs for students who perform below the college level.

4. To develop programs and activities which will meet the educational, vocational, cultural and social needs of the community.

5. To develop a program of community service which will integrate the cultural and educational needs and responsibilities of the college and the University community.

6. To provide counseling and guidance services which will enable students to approximate self-management of their own development and effectuate use of their talents in learning, research, and vocational endeavors.

7. To provide placement services for graduates and other students who seek employment.

8. To provide opportunity for student-faculty-community involvement in creative expression through a program of varied extra-curricular activities.

9. To research the changing educational needs of the community and disseminate information concerning programs and services available to interested persons.

10. To research educational programs and services to determine the extent to which they satisfy the demands of the University constituents.

11. To have a liberalizing and humanizing impact on all persons who come in contact with the University.

12. To become an intellectual and cultural center in the community.

To achieve these objectives, Southern University-Shreveport is committed to maintaining exemplary administrators, faculty and staff to guarantee the highest academic and professional standards for educational programs and community service.

EVALUATION

Besides being involved with the normal accrediting process for reaffirmation with the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the institution has an ongoing system of evaluation through the SURPAS (Southern University Review of Programs and Services) system. This activity includes examination and evaluation of each campus in the system--Southern University, Baton Rouge and Southern University, New Orleans. Individual programs are also evaluated by advisory committees and by related professional associations.

STUDENT INFORMATION

During the academic year 1987-88, there were a total of 1,873 full-time and part-time students serviced at Southern University, Shreveport. During the 1988 summer session, 987 students were serviced. The enclosed graphs display the grade distributions, major fields of study, and demographic data pertaining to those students.

Additionally, there were 401 students who transferred from the institution in Fall, 1987 and 489 who transferred in Spring, 1988. Forty-nine students reported withdrawing during the Fall semester, and thirty-six withdrew during the Spring semester.
